

The Colorado Blues Society (CBS) is dedicated to preserving Blues heritage and increasing awareness of and appreciation for the Blues as an indigenous American art form and the wellspring from which nearly all contemporary popular American music originated.

Our Blues in the Schools (BITS) program takes the Blues into our schools, relating the music to the school's curriculum in ways that make a difference in how students learn and it is lots of fun for everyone!

We can tailor presentations to the needs of the school in topics such as social studies, history, language arts, geography, math, and of course — music. The objective of these presentations is to educate our students about the native art form of Blues-related music by providing informative and interactive performances.

BITS presentations come to the schools at no cost.

We are excited with the prospect of energizing students and staff by showcasing this great American art form and its influence on our culture. The link below will give you insight on what we have in mind as well as information about the CBS.

<https://www.coblues.org/bits>

Please contact us to obtain additional information, discuss your needs, or to talk about scheduling a BITS presentation.

Our contact information is:
Dennis Smith

303 917 9673
tmssinc@comcast.net

Cindy Smith
303 917 9674
cindy.smith.pt@gmail.com

Mark Schleiger
president@coblues.org
marcus@skybeam.com

Blues icon Willie Dixon once said "The blues is the roots.....and everything else is the fruits".

Helps us preserve and promote this truly
American art form, its heritage, and maybe inspire a young person to explore and develop his or her musical interest, aptitudes and expressive abilities.